Seneschals Report

Greetings Unto the Populace of Caerthe,

As you are no doubt aware, one of the ugliest chapters in the history of the society has come to a close. It did not, however, come without a cost. The details of which are available at the society website. The cost to the barony was 18% of our funds which we hope to get back should the SCA prove victorious in its lawsuit against its insurance company. It is quite possible, however, that we will not get this money back.

To put things in a little bit more of a perspective, prior to my tenure, Twelfth Night had been geared towards earning the barony most of its operating budget for the year. This year's Twelfth Night profit, however, went entirely to pay the lawsuit settlement and still did not cover the entire amount the barony owed. Although, that amount is not insignificant, we will still be able to continue to function. We can still afford our fighter practice site, our storage locker, site rentals, etc. We will, however, be looking at ways to raise money. Please keep this in mind .

With that sad affair behind us, though, we can now look brightly at the future. This month we will join with the baronies of Caer Galen and Unser Hafen to host a Tri-Baronial A&S. Please come as a successful event will pave the way for more in the future.

In a little under two months, the barony will host the Known World Cooks and Bards. This event promises to have some of the best artisans in the SCA. There are a variety of classes that will be held during the day and songs to fill the night. Outside of the major wars (WAR!), you will not be able to find such a grand gathering.

If, however, those events do not work out, then come to the Academy of Grace and Valor this summer at the Byers site. Lord Tahir and Lady Ellinor have put together a fantastic event! Already Sir Flanagan has gathered many armored combat instructors from outside of the Outlands! There will be archery and fencing instructors abounding as well. Therefore, make sure to mark your calendars now.

For those of you who will be traveling to Crown, Gulf Wars, or Estrella, please travel safe, enjoy the event, and spread the glory of Caerthe. I look forward to seeing all of you at some point in the near future.

It remains my honor and privilege to serve as your seneschal.

YIS,

THL Jethro Stille
Seneschal of Caerthe

Outlands Carpool

To those who come by these letters, Greetings. I apologize to those who receive this missive multiple times.

Would you like to go outside of your area and attend other area's events and practices but the cost of gas is preventing you from doing so? The Outlands Carpool is here to help whether you would like to share costs by having a partner there to split gas or you need transportation.

You can find us on FACEBOOK under "Outlands Carpool" at

Exchequer

Greetings to the mighty populace of Caerthe. I request a few moments of your time.

Today, I have two items which I feel are important to share for your own information.

First, I am looking for a deputy or two. If any are interested, please contact me or THL Jethro by the end of March.

Second, I believe that you should be aware that the numbers for our share of the recent lawsuit settlement against the SCA, Inc have come down from our Kingdom. Our share is 18% of our 2010 final asset amount, $2,364.77. Ravenhyrst, Bloodstone, and Hawks Hollow have also been asked to contribute from their coffers in the same percentage. The financial committee members present at last night's populace meeting have decided that this should come from our general fund as an operating expense, thus it will not directly effect the earmarked funds held by Caerthe for our guilds and groups. Some part of amount may end up being returned to us if the SCA, Inc is successful in their lawsuit of our insurance company. This reduces our operating capital somewhat, but should not prevent us from funding the events that we have on the docket for this next year or from keeping up our operations. The Barony has already taken a somewhat careful stance toward the preservation and growth of our assets so that we may support our populace to do the wonderful things that we all want them to do, and this will not change in the next year. For day to day operations, I would not expect to see a large difference, though this summer may see a little more fundraising activity than usual. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me or THL Jethro directly.

YIS,
Ailleann

Notes

As many of you may know, Baroness Caerthe, Judith deBeaumont, passed away on February 2, 2012, after a short illness, but several years of declining health. Mistress Judith was a shining light who helped to shape this great Barony.

Mistress Gwen Cat coordinated a silent auction to benefit Judith's family. Thank you Mistress for your efforts. Thank you everyone for the generous donations. And thank you to everyone who bid. The aucion more than exceeded everyones expectations.

Apple tart from Rumpolt – birth of an A&S entry by Catrin von Berlin

So you want to enter A&S and since you eat, you thought a food entry might be a great place to start. First, you looked around and found a cook book: there are a fair number of period cookery books available, both translated into English, or in their original language. Ideally you found a facsimile edition (one that looks like the original book did) and you found a recipe. If you speak the foreign language by all means, translate the recipe yourself, otherwise you have the original translators errors or misinterpretations that your entry is based on. Just be sure you include both a copy or scan of the original and a transcription along with your translation.

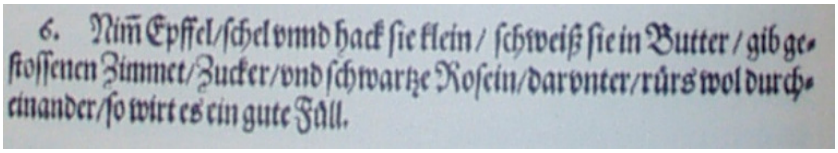
So now you have a recipe, but wow, they wrote funny back then. Where are the amounts, measurements, temperatures and cooking times? THAT is where you and the ART part of an A&S competition come in.

Here is a scan of the original text:



6. Nim Epffel/schel vnnd hack sie klein / schweiß sie in Butter / gib gestossenen Zimmet/Zucker/vnd schwartze Rosein/darvnter/rürs wol durcheinander/so wirt es ein gute Fäll.

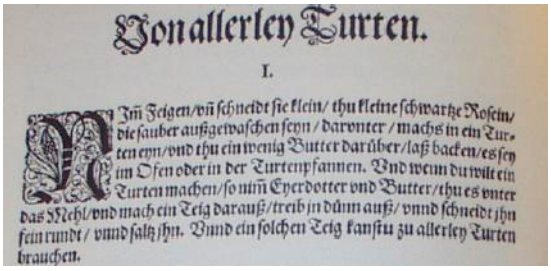
For this example we are using recipe #6 from Marxen Rumpolts Ein New Kochbuch published in 1581. I own the facsimile edition published by Tupperware Germany (yes that Tupperware) in the early 1970s. The recipe (transcribed or transliterated by me) reads:

6. Nim{m} Epffel/ schel vnnd hack sie klein/ schweisz sie in Butter/ gib gestossenen Zimmet/ Zucker/ vnd schwartze Rosein/ darvnter/ ru:ers wol ducheinander so wirt es ein gute Fu:ell.

A word for word (meaning not modernized, keeping to the sound of the original) translation, also by me:

6. Take apples/ peel and chop them small/ sweat them in butter/ add crushed cinnamon/ sugar/ and black raisins/ thereunder/ stir it together/ so it is a good filling.

Wait, there should be more information, where is the dough? So now go back to the first recipe in the section, this is the only place any kind of dough is mentioned. From here on it is only fillings, and the author assumes you will simply use the dough to fill with other stuff.



Von allerley Turten.

I.

Nim Feigen/vñ schneidt sie klein/ thu kleine schwartze Rosein/ die sauber außgewaschen seyn/ darvnter/ machs in ein Turten eyn/vnd thu ein wenig Butter darüber/laß backen/es sey im Ofen oder in der Turtenpfannen. Vnd wenn du wilt ein Turten machen/so nim Eyerdotter vnd Butter/thu es vnter das Mehl/vnd mach ein Teig darauß/treib jn dünn auß/ vnnd schneidt jhn fein rundt/ vnnd saltz jhn. Vnnd ein solchen Teig kanstu zu allerley Turten brauchen.

So again an image of the original, and the transcription, by me:
Von allerley Turten.
I.
NJm*b* Feigen/ vn*d* schneidt sie klein/ thu kleine schwartze Rosein/ die sauber außgewaschen seyn/ darvnter/ machs in ein Turten eyn/ vnd thu ein wenig Butter daru:eber/ laß backen/ es sey im Ofen oder in der Turtenpfannen. Vnd wenn du wilt ein Turten machen/ so nim*b* Eyerdotter vnd Butter/ thu es vnter das Mehl/ vnd mach ein Teig darauß/ treib jn du:enn auß/ vnnd schneidt jhn fein rundt/ vnnd saltz jhn. Vnnd ein solchen Teig kanstu zu allerley Turten brauchen.

And the translation, also original by me:
Take figs/ and cut them small/ do small black raisins/ that are washed clean/ thereunder/ make in(to) a torte/ and do a little butter thereover/ let it bake/ be it in the oven or in a tortepan. And if you want to make a torte/ so take egg yolkes and butter/ do it under the flour/ and make a dough therefrom/ roll it out thin/ and cut it well round and salt it. And such a dough you may use for all sorts of tortes.

Let's start with the dough. Rumpolt specifies egg yolks, butter and flour. Not a standard modern American pie crust, but this is German, ok, let's play with it. Are there other period recipes that have more details? Are there old recipes that sound similar that I can use to get a rough idea of amounts? Or maybe I should just use some reasonable (to someone who has cooked for many years) proportions.

So my redaction or recreation of the crust, using modern measurements, so I or anyone else may recreate it:
For the crust:
1 cup flour (unbleached, preferably whole wheat pastry flour)
2 1/2 oz butter, unsalted
2 egg yolks (if too thick beat with a little water)
pinch of salt
Sift your flour, and cut in the butter, then add the egg yolks to make a pastry, it is ok to work it a little. On a floured pastry cloth roll it out thinly, and sprinkle with salt. Transfer it to a baking sheet, and trim the edges round.

This pastry is similar to a shortbread, or a German Mürbeteig. It will have crumb rather than flake texture as it is not supposed to be a flaky pie crust type dough. The butter and yolks create a rich and beautifully golden dough. This should work for my A&S entry.

Now the filling: Apples, cinnamon, sugar and raisins. That can't be too hard, or can it? I looked into using one of the older varieties of apples, such as Pippin or Court Pendu Plat, but was only able to locate tiny and pricey Lady Apples. So I used Granny Smiths, which I found to be a bit crisper (more watery, less likely to thicken) but I like the tartness they have. Please do avoid anything with the word 'Delicious' in the name, it was bred in modern times to travel well and look pretty, but does not have much true apple flavor.

For the filling (again my interpretation):
4 apples, I used granny smith
1 oz butter
large pinch cinnamon
2 T sugar, more if you like it sweet, but this lets the apple flavor dominate
2 T raisins
Peel and finely chop the apples, sauté in butter, till they soften and produce some juices, stir in sugar, cinnamon, and raisins. Pile into center of crust, pull crust up to contain most of filling (leave a hole in the center (like a volcano) for steam to escape.
Start at 425 for 10 minutes, then reduce to 350 for another 30 minutes or until done.

This tart is fairly simple, and very tasty. I think it would be a great addition to a feast menu. The transcription, translation from the German into English and recipe re-creation are all from Ein New Kochbuch and are my original work.

So now that you have all the parts, let's make sure you can turn your efforts into a successful A&S entry. Be sure to keep notes, so you can include the information in your documentation. Remember your documentation needs to include an introduction, WHAT you made, HOW/WHERE it was used in period, HOW they made it in period, WHAT you did, any differences between the two and WHY those differences (I chose to use an aluminum pie tin I was not certain the decorative tin dish would not leach poisons into my tart.) Also tell your judges any special steps you took (I got the most period apple tree I could find and grew it in my own yard, then used the apples from that tree.) Do not forget any lessons learned. Finally make sure to include scans or copies (judges get twitchy at pages torn from a book) of any photos/ paintings, and be certain to include a list of ALL of your sources in a good (modern) bibliography.

Now for an A&S entry you have the tasty tart, the accurate documentation, but you still need a pleasing display. Try for a period feel to the cloth, a nice plate, individual serving ware for your judges (usually 3) maybe napkins, a candle.

Congratulations, you have now gone from a vague recipe written in 1581 to a nicely displayed and documented tasty tart your judges, the populace and you can enjoy.

Cooks Guild

Caerthe's Cooks Guild had a very tasty meeting to celebrate Butter Week. Mistress Kseniya and her Lord very kindly hosted us, providing bread and salt, and a bountiful and rich feast appeared and grew with each new attendee (even the one who just dropped off Ricotta, sugar and raisins for a sweet filling) Our hostess spent hours preparing Blintz batter (eggs and flour and yeast, and rising, and add more things and raise some more, and add separated and beaten eggs and scalded milk and raise some more) and the resulting pancakes were amazing!
The table groaned under the bread, gouda, smoked mozarella, smoked oysters, fresh strawberries, a berry mixture, lemony cookies, elderberry syrup, the ricotta filling, marscapone cheese, sour cream, smoked salmon, diced prosciutto, pickled herring, and golden caviar.

Everything was amazing, the blintz with marscapone and berries were tasty, t heard wonderful things of the ricotta with a drizzle of elderberry, but I think the most amazing was topping the fluffy hot pancake with fresh sour cream and caviar. Truly a decadent treat before the austerity of lent.
THANKS to all who attended.

The March meeting will be a hands on working meeting on Sunday March 18, 2012 at the home of Mistress Gwen Cat. We will begin at noon and plan to prepare pasties, pickles and other travelers fare for the lunch at Known World Cooks and Bards. There may be a prep session on Saturday afternoon for anyone who wont get enough on Sunday, or cant make the Sunday work day. Please wear washable comfortable mundanes, good shoes, and bring an apron and a way to contain your hair.

Lookign forward to seeing you all in March and at KWCB!

In Service,
Mistress Catrein von Berlin
known as Gwen Cat
